First Response's Talk-Down Service utilizes the power of surveillance cameras and loud speaker integration to monitor and react to specific security areas of the client's choosing. When a security event is triggered, our operators can not only log into your cameras to asses a threat, but take a proactive approach by talking directly to the intruder to deter them from the premises. Our Talk-Down Service is an amazing tactic to prevent current and further damage during a security threat while waiting for authorities to arrive.
